LOFTING CLUB MEETS-

The Lofting Club met yesterday aftetrnoon with Mrs. S. W. Hager and Mrs. H. V. McChesney, at the home of Mrs. Hager, on Shelby street. For the pleasant occasion the home of Mrs. Hager was decorated in yellow tulips and carnations.

Before a delicious repast was served to the Club Members and the guests, the sewing occupied a part of the time and the solos by Mrs. R. R. Wilson and Miss Vaught the other. These ladies proved so capable and so generous with their gifts that they were called upon to help pass an agreeable evening. The guests num- Carrie Brock. bered: Mrs. Speger and Mrs. Wilson, of Trenton, Mrs. H. S. Barker, of Louisville, Mrs. Cox, of Madisonville, Miss Fox, of Danville and Mrs. Robert B. Brown, of Warsaw, Ky.

JUDGE GAINES DINNER-

Genial Judge Gaines has admitted he was just forty-eight and he intended to celebrate in proper fashion. His home, on Ewing street, was appropriately decorated for the aus picious occasion and the dining room and table dainty enough to tempt the appetite of an epicure. The dinner was in five courses and each one was declared to be a little better than the last. Among the invited guests were: Messers R. L. Greene, Rev. Joseph Severance, Judge Finley Fogg, Mr. T. M. Phythian, Col. W. S. Hawkins, Mr. E. P. Mudd and Mr. G. W. Roland.

WAR OF THE ROSES-

There was a very pretty war between the red and the white roses at the Coliseum last Friday evening. The roses were three girls and three beys, each representing a "red" or a "white" rose. These were led by Mrs. Buford Hendrick and Mr. Merrick and Miss Henrietta Poyntz and Mr. Roy Choate. After going through practically the same figures as one would go through at a german decision fell to the "white" roses. The red roses were represented by: Mrs. J. Buford Hendricks, Mr. Merrick, Miss Mary Swigert Hendrick and Mr. Bronston Kenney, Miss Florence Shaw and Mr. Zack Thomasson, Miss Cora Belle Kenny and Mr. James O'Rear, Miss Bertha Ummethun and Mr. Edward Power. The "white" roses were: Miss Henrietta Poynts and Mr. Chaote, Miss tives in Harrodsburg. Mason Montgomery and Mr. Sherman True, Miss Lillian Hinneau and Mr. Pommering, Miss Lena Allen and Mr. Robert Scearce, Miss Lillian Peyntz and Mr. Carl Quentell, Miss Virginia Cray and Mr. Gavin Morris.

DANCE AT THE Y. M. I. HALL-

The younger society set gave a delightful dance at the Y. M. I., hall last Friday evening. The dance was led by Mr. Pruett Graham and little Miss Agnes Saffell. The dancers were: Miss Berry Walcutt and Mr. Willis Hobson, Miss Ruth Roberts and Mr. John W. Hoge, Miss Lawler Haff and Mr. Scott Haff, Miss Virginia Williams and Mr. Frank Trumbo, Miss Elizabeth Taylor and Mr. Jack Martin, Miss Agnes Saffell and Mr. Granville Weathers, Miss Pauline Hendrick and Mr. Walter Hinneau.
